Sonny Coloma

The Supreme Court is at the apex of the judiciary, one of the three branches of government. The President as the Chief Executive is the highest official of the land, followed by the Vice President, the Senate President and the House Speaker — are next in the hierarchy. The Chief Justice, leader of the judiciary, follows. Among the three branches, the judiciary — is least exposed to the public, unlike the executive and legislative branches who are elected through popular vote of the citizenry.
